

Kinetic Molecular Theory

- Gases consist of particles in constant random motion.
- Pressure is due to collisions of gas particles with the container.
- Temperature is a measure of average kinetic energy.