

Overall Goal: Properties

---

For example, why is water a liquid but methane a gas?

To understand properties, we need to know molecular structure, which means we need to understand bonding, which is why we studied atomic structure.