

Legal Decisions Made by Humans

---

ML failures will lead to both criminal cases and civil litigation.

In many such cases,

- juries make decisions.
- Jurors are unlikely to have much technology expertise.

Are humans capable of avoiding the assumption that technology is unbiased and infallible, especially with (one side's) lawyers arguing that such is the case?

