

Allowing Use of Information Can Be Hazardous

One of my sons, for example,

- was the only boy in his school's knitting club.
- His mother and I encouraged him, but we didn't advertise his hobby to strangers.

My senior colleague, married for decades,

- explored dating and marriage sites
- in the hope of helping junior colleagues.
- As a result, unusual ads popped up on his monitor while we were chatting in his office.