In parallel to sensing, computing, and communication, control (i.e., programmed movement or "actuation") was also maturing in the field of robotics ... can AI help there?