MLE Solves the Natural Language Problem

How is MLE useful in NLP?

Natural language processing answers the question, "Given a sequence of words, what did the speaker want to communicate?"

A solution is generated by finding the meaning that is most likely to have generated the sequence of words.

(Our brains are also good with this question.)