

Unauthorized Voices Can be Treated as Noise

Noise today may also include unauthorized voices.

By parametrizing the range of frequencies, speeds, and accents for human speech in a given language,

- modern systems are able to record a voiceprint (a set of parameter values) and
- verify that the speaker is authorized to make use of the system.

