

Robots Also Need Vision!

Of course, robots will also need vision.

Robots that look and act like humans are not many years away.

Processing visual signals

- will be an important part in enabling such robots
- to act and communicate with humans.

Whether they look like or unlike us seems to be a matter of choice.

