Concepts You Should Know from These Slides

° human use of visual clues to identify objects

° why depth perception is useful together with active sensors

° use of feature extraction to recognize individuals

° why understanding movement is useful to "intelligence"

° integration of information over time and across sensors

° role of safety envelope in ensuring safety