Now Add in Vision and NLP

Today, in addition to recording video and audio,
- we also have speech recognition
- and parametrized models of speech
- that allow us to capture a person's accent and speaking style
- and natural language processing to build models of how answers fit together and can be queried.