

Virtual Humans (or Other ... Species) Can Go Anywhere

---

Digital twins and AI-driven humans, whether created from real people, in response to real people, or purely from fictional sources—imagine training one to believe that it is Harry Potter or Sherlock Holmes, for example—can be ... met ... in augmented reality.

But they can also be part of a fully imaginary world, which goes by a different name: virtual reality.