

Magic is Defined by Our Understanding of the World

---

“Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic.”

Arthur C. Clarke, “Profiles of The Future,” 1961
(Clarke's third law)

“Magic” is often associated with phenomena that violate our intuitive understanding of physics.

For example, things don't instantly teleport from one place to another.