

Open Question: Can We Use the Same Ideas for VR?

Do you have to lose a limb to gain an artificial one?

For now, perhaps.

But similar techniques,

- using more sophisticated sensors, signal processing, and signal generation,
- may be adapted to interact with nerve endings or even directly with your brain,
- enabling a virtual world or controls to be placed directly into your head
- ... virtually, of course.