Containers are Lightweight Virtual Machines

Using an OS such as Linux,
- one can make a smaller, simpler,
- slightly less secure
- version of a virtual machine—
- called a container—and
- ship them around more easily.

Docker (the company) is based on containers.