

Shipping VMs Around is Slower and Trickier

Why not do the same thing with a VM?

People do, sometimes, but

1. a VM contains a copy of an OS and a filesystem, which makes it typically 50-100× larger than a container, and
2. whomever provides the VM must be legally entitled to provide the OS and all other software contained in that VM.