

OS Vendors Do Enable Use of Containers

Companies like Microsoft and Apple

- are not “in” the container market
- in the sense that no one is allowed
- to ship their OS code to others for free.

However, they need to make sure that their users can benefit from containers.

Windows, for example,

- supports use of Docker containers
- with WSL2 (Windows Subsystem for Linux).