

Internet Just for Point-to-Point Communication?

So far, we have focused on the Internet

- as a way for one computer
- to communicate with another.

That was the original design,
and how the Internet is most often used.