

Multicast is Not an Easy Problem

Trying to find a good way to support multicast in the Internet occupied researchers for decades.

Everyone knew it was important, but

- with millions of connections through each router,
- solutions could not expect routers
- to handle each connection separately.