Distribution Reduces Latency and Increases Bandwidth

For example, Google has datacenters spread around the world.

Each datacenter has access to all of the company's videos (or other content).

Anything you receive from Google comes from a nearby datacenter.