

What the FLP proof shows

1. There exists an initial configuration that is bivalent
2. Starting from a bivalent config., there is always another bivalent config. that is reachable