

More on Complex Numbers

There is one further result on complex numbers that we will need soon, so let's capture it now.

Generally we visualize real numbers as points on a real number line. For complex numbers $a + ib$ we visualize them as vectors in the plane with a plotted on the horizontal axis and b on the vertical axis.