

Compton Scattering

- Incident photon loses momentum, since it transfers momentum to the electron
- Lower momentum means longer wavelength
- This is proof that a photon has momentum

$$p = \frac{h}{\lambda}$$