

Example

The position of an electron in the lowest-energy state of a hydrogen atom; is known to an accuracy of about $\Delta x = 0.05 \text{ nm}$ (the radius of the atom).
What is the minimum range of momentum measurements? Velocity?