

When using time-delayed speakers, as in this building, alignment of first arrivals from all the speakers is critical to maintain localization. The even flow of color indicates that the timing of the system is correct.

The above figure shows another view of the first arrivals as viewed from within the listening area. The power of EASE enables viewing the same data from many vantage points.